SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD

Those who display outstanding sportsmanship deserve recognition. The Awards and Recognition Association (ARA) is the sponsor of the National Sportsmanship Award, which is presented to the Division 1 collage football player who best exhibits sportsmanship both on and off the field. The 2005 award winner was University of Memphis Running Back DeAngelo Williams.

PDU is proud to offer this 7¾" tall replica of the National Sportsmanship Award. PDU donates a portion of the sales of these awards to the ARA's ARIEF Program, a non-profit foundation that helps students realize their dream of a collage education.

Consider the importance of Sportsmanship in your community and honor those who demonstrate exceptional Sportsmanship.

This award is a replica of Edward Jonas' sculpture Sportsmanship.

How To Glue Acrylic Awards

Step 1. Carefully uncap glue lid. On a new can of solvent, this may require removing a metal "plug". Place the syringe in can. While holding syringe body, carefully pull back on plunger. Fill syringe about half way. Replace can lid tightly to avoid rapid evaporation of the solvent.

Step 2. Place a scrap cloth or wadded paper towel over the blunt needle and depress plunger to release excess air in the syringe.

CAUTION: Do not point syringe at another person or yourself while performing this procedure. NOTE: Solvent can damage fabrics, plastics, and other surfaces!

Step 3. Peel the protective paper off all surfaces of both the award and the base before gluing!

Step 4. With dry finger or lint free cloth, wipe any dust off the gluing surfaces.

Step 5. Visually align and center the award on the base then tilt the top part SLIGHTLY towards you, leaving the front edge touching the acrylic base. With your other hand, place the needle tip at the small gap between the top part and the base. Release the solvent slowly and continuously until nearly half of the top part/base joint is covered with glue. There is no need to move the syringe! Leave it in the center while releasing the solvent as capillary action will draw the glue into the joint.

NOTE: If the solvent should "pool" around the glue joint or drip onto the acrylic parts, do not panic and try to wipe it off or blow on it. Just leave it alone and the solvent will dry clear. If it should haze (turn white), Novus Plastic Polish #2, will remove this haze.

Step 6. Carefully lower the top part onto the base. For the next few seconds, you can realign the pieces if necessary.

As the award begins to set, further alignment should be avoided as bubbles may result and the bond will be weakened. You generally do not need to hold the parts together for more than 30 seconds to a minute and clamps are usually unnecessary. Once the award is set, you can carefully move it out of the way and begin to glue the next award. Using the recommended solvents, the bonded award can usually be shipped, if packed carefully, within an hour or two. Full cure is achieved within 24 hours.

Step 7. When finished with the last award, release the excess solvent back into the can and close the lid tightly. The syringe may be reused until the rubber plunger falls apart.
